An parently, the market was in command of the bull pool, which had so manipulated the market as to disgust all experienced speculators and to restrain them from commitments on either side. The change immediately followed J. J. Hill's interview on business conditions, but it could not be said that the abrupt break, the heavy liquidation, and the sudden increase of activity were due as much to Mr. Hill's expressions as to the fact that the market was topheavy and that prices had been advanced in direct opposition to business developments ob-

New York, Dec. 3,-There were no new developments of importance in the cotton trade to-day, consequently business was small and fluctuations narrow and unimportant. There was a decline of 2 to 3 points on the opening from yesterday's prices, but the market received better support from the bull interests, and this induced covering of shorts, which soon sent prices 10 points over vesterday's, Most of this improvement was maintained at the close on the continuance of support and some traders buying for a turn on the check to the decline in the stock market, and the belief that Wall street liquidation of cotton ran its course with the 20-point decline in Time money during the week was characterized by a further fall in rates, Dullness of stock commission's business, in conjuction with the increasing case in call money, naturally caused a somewhat limited demand. A feature of the market was the offering of meney on all industrial collateral with-out any especial discrimination in price. Rates: 4 per cent for sixty and ninety days, and four and five months; 4 per cent for for knowths, and the demand was better, notwithstanding that rates fell slightly for all grades. Rates: 5a5½ per cent for sixty and ninety days indorsed bills receivable, and choice four to six months single names; 5%a6 per cent for others.

Chicago, Dec. 3.—Bulls in all the speculative pit Chicago, Dec. 3.—Bulls in all the speculative pits had an iming to-day, and a fairly good one, advances being established for all commodities, and a fair business in the aggregate done. Cables were generally favorable, the statistics of Monday promising to be much less bearish than they have been for some weeks. Bears showed the white feather, while bulls were somewhat rampant. Shorts were the best buyers in all the pits, though there was more or less changing in grain contracts from December to May, and the markets generally closed firm with a healthier feeling prevalent. Compared with yesterday, wheat closed at an advance of %ale; corn, %a%; oats, %a%, and pork

Work has been begun upon over 400 new

Among the number of of over $800,000 Among the number of new buildings are ninety brick residences, with a value of over $425,000, and twenty-five frame dwellings to cost nearly $70,000. Besides these, there are many office and business structures and a $28,600 apartment house.

Washington Property Profitable. Nothing can be there conclusive in proof of the confidence of the public in the stability of real estate investment in the District or of the good future that is ahead. The operations are well distributed over the entire District, and this shows clearly that the feeling is general and is not confined to one part nor the result of any special forces at work upon any one locality. This volume of new business, added to the several enterprises that are already under way and which are not included in the November estimates, forecast nuch for the coming winter. But the very best and most convincing argument that can be adduced in support of the general statements of large investments and prospects of steady work is the report that comes from the inspector of building. This supplies concrete dem-onstration of the good reports that generally prevail among the real estate men of Washington. Inspector's Report for November. In the report of the building operations n the District of Columbia for the month of November, 1910, permits for the number and character of the buildings, re
